TARIFF FIGHT NOW SEEMS IMMINENT

Early Extra Session for Pet Legislation.

DEMOCRATS WOULD OPEN UP SCHEDULES

Interests and Stand-Patters Against Reciprocity.

By JOHN SNURE.

The great fight over Canadian reciof the tariff, grows more imminent. Stronger intimations of an 'extra session come daily from the White House. President Taft is now showing symp-Congress almost immediately after

It will be impossible to con- pneumatic pump for pumping water by fine the activities of Congress to anything less than the whole tariff problem. Nor is there any certainty that other legislation will not be taken up. President Taft is insistent on tariff commission legislation and on Canadian dications are he cannot get tariff commission legislation.

these matters, especially on the reciprocity agreement.

Indications are that the President through the Senate even at a special session. It is certain he has a hard Company. fight ahead if he forces action upon it.

Senate insurgents, with the exception the agreement, because they declare it not issued any statement to this effect and may not issue one, on the theory that there is plenty of time for them to declare their position. But there is no doubt they are getting ready for war.

The National Grange has declared against the reciprocity compact. The city an investigation was started by the other officers of the company asked the pulses to take a hand.

against the reciprocity compact. The grange represents about a million farmers in thirty States. Its legislative committee will bring pressure to bear on the Senators and Representatives from every agricultural section of the country. The grange holds the agreement is unfair to the farmer, giving him free trade as to his own products, but leaving the tariffs on the articles the farmer

Bitter Against Agreement.

Leading high tariff organizations of the country are as bitter against the agreement as is the National Grange. The National Association of Wool Manufacturers, which has been in Washington this week, is strongly opposed. The wool manufacturing interests are nostile to the agreement, because they foresee that if it goes through it will be the of the end of high tariffs in the United States.

Standput Senators generally are hostile to the agreement. They see in free foodstuffs, toward which the Canadian agreement goes a long way, the rebellion of the farmers against the high tarin system and fear that as free trade came in England through the repeal of the corn laws, so either free trade or a or the week. The Democrats will support it, almost to a man. An informal capyass of the House Republicans discovers that about half are going to vote for it.

The body was found alongside of the track by Hamlet Gibson, a trackwalker, about 6:30 o'clock. It is believed the man was walking on the track and was struck by train No. 93, which nassed a few minutes.

The attitude of the Senate Democrats depend in some measure on that of the House Democrats, but most of them the House Democrats, but how of their are expected to be for it. Representative McCall, in charge of the reciprocity measure in the House, is certain he has the votes to put it

While the elements are concentrating against the reciprocity agreement, President Taft is getting no end of encour-agement. Letters and telegrams are pouring into the White House in sup-

Taft and Cabinet on Speaking Tour. The President and his Cabinet, or part of it, are going to make a large number of speeches this spring. Mr. Taft is going to start February 9 on a trip to Springfield, Ill., and Columbus, Ohio, He will talk on reciprocity on this trip whenever he gets an opportunity. Secretary of State Knox will speak on the subject before the Association of Commerce dinner in Chicago, February 15.

President Taft undoubtedly has the backing of the consuming public in his fight. If he can stir up public sentiment to sufficient activity, he may yet force the agreement through the Senate, though not at this session. A small number of Republican Senators combined with the Democrats in the next session would be able to pass it. On the other hand, there is the danger that if the President calls Congress in special session the Democrats will ignore reciprocity and will take up nothing that does not comprehend either general revision or the reduction of a number of important schedules.

So far as the tariff commission is conbacking of the consuming public in his

So far as the tariff commission is concerned, there will be no permanent commission unless it is provided while the Republicans control Congress. A Democratic House and a Senate in which the Democrats are nearly as strong as the Republicans, will not provide for a permanent tariff commission. Senate Democrats, led by Senator Bailey, are preparing to fillbuster against tariff commission legislation, and the best the President can hope for is an increased appropriation for the tariff vented Him Hearing Express Near Boston.

BOSTON, Feb. 5 .- Falling to hear the brought to Washington this morning approach of an express, because of the noise of a passing freight, Russell B. Burbank, a naval wireless expert connected with the cruiser Chicago, walked to his death at the Lexington street grade crossing of the Boston and Maine railroad at Waverly station, Burbank was on his way from his home on Trapeto road to the village and, although the gates were down, made his way directly onto the track. Shouts of warning came too late to save him.

Burbank was forty-two years of age and unmarried. He was one of the first to take up wireless telegraphy and when the Nantucket South Shoals lightship went adrift in the storm of two years ago, it was he who handled the key and sent out the wireless messages that kept the land stations and Bed Confesses How He Killed Sweetheart.

VIENNA, Feb. 5.-Guilty knowledge of a murder strange enough to have been imagined by Poe has been concealed for forty years by Gustave Schmidt, and has now come to light through his deathbed confession. Schmidt was a tight-rope walker forty years ago, and fell in love with a girl similarly employed in the same circus in Vienna. On the evening before they were to be married she jilted him. Before the performance he picked apart the strands of the rope on which she was to walk, tearing a hit here and a bit there, so as not to give the rope the appearance of being cut. When she stepped on the rope it broke, and she fell sixty feet to her death. Schmidt was never suspected, but had been a conscience-stricken wreck ever since.

and Motor Boats to Be Used in 1912 Campaign.

CHICAGO, Feb. 5.-Special trains, automobiles, and motor boats, carrying speakers and laden with literature, will be used by the Socialist party in the Presidential campaign of 1912.

The old parties will find themselve confronted with the same weapons which they have used successfully, and the Socialists predict that more than a million votes will be polled for the Socialist cause.

This plan, an attempt to beat the Re publican and Democratic parties at their own game, was announced here tonight following a meeting of the Socialist national executive committee.

Two special trains will be chartered and sent back and forth across the continent for several months before the

To Charge Woodworkers With Trade Interference

CHICAGO, Feb. 5.-Representatives of the sash and door industry have decided to file complaint against the offi-cials of the Amalgamated Wood Workers International Union, charging interference with trade.

A bill has been proposed which sets forth many of the grievances complained of by the Bucks Stove and Range Company of St. Louis, in its suc-cessful prosecution of President Samuel Gompers, Vice President John Mitchell, and Secretary Frank Morrison, of the American Federation of Labor, for con-tempt of court.
